Gen. Otis Regulates Marriages.

An idea of the porosity of Filipino youth may be formed from the fact that in a recent decree General Otis fixes the age at which natives may contract the marriage relation at 14 for males and 12 for females. There has been much uncertainty in regard to the legality of civil marriages in the islands, and General Otis found it necessary to issue an executive order revoking all laws and provisions of the Spanish rule making only canonical marriage binding, and describing the regulations regarding marriage which are to be in effect hereafter.

Formerly, and some time prior to the occupation of the Americans, the Spanish code provided for both civil and canonical marriages in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The influence of the friars between the government and the Philippines became so strong that in order to swell the income of the church throughout the island a decree was obtained from the Spanish Governor General declaring invalid marriages except those performed under the auspices of the friars and priests. This gave sanction to the Catholic form of marriage throughout the islands, and none other was regarded as legal. With the advent of the American army and the Protestant ministers and chaplains, the question rose as to the legality of marriages in the islands by these Protestant clergymen. The friars and priests persuaded many Catholics to believe that only their form of marriage was legal, and encouraged the belief that the Americans were a Nation of illegitimacies.

The decree issued by General Otis declares that marriage may be solemnized by Judges of the courts inferior to the Supreme Court, by Justices of the Peace, or by priests or ministers of the gospel of any denomination. No particular form of ceremony is suggested except that the contracting parties must acknowledge that they take each other as man and wife before the person who solemnizes the marriage. All marriages entered into on any of the islands are to be regarded as valid in all other countries and that are valid in other countries are to be accepted as valid in the Philippines. —Washington Cor. Com. Trib.

Rev. Mr. Sheldon and His Novel Newspaper.

Topeka, Kas., March 10.—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, who will assume absolute control, business and editorial, of the Topeka Capital for one week, beginning Monday, incidentally gave some idea today of how he intends to run a Christian newspaper. "I wish," he said to Harold Chase, associate editor of the Capital, "that you would notify the employees please not to smoke."

"How about the use of tobacco in the other form, Mr. Sheldon?" asked Mr. Chase. "Does this request mean not to use tobacco in any form?"

"Yes, that would be better, and please don't make this thing too conspicuous," he hastened to add, "just quietly tell the men I would be pleased if they did not use tobacco."

Mr. Sheldon has decided to have every bit of matter pass through his hands. He expects to preach as usual Sunday morning. The Sunday paper will be published, but the issue will be off the press and out of the office before midnight Saturday.

Many advertisers seeking space in the Capital next week fell under the ban of Mr. Sheldon's blue pencil today. He scrutinizes closely every advertisement presented. Not a single patent medicine "ad" will appear during the week. "Some patent medicines have good qualities," Mr. Sheldon said, "but there are so many frauds that I have not the time to sift them out, hence all must go."

He rejected a corset advertisement, because he believes tight lacing is injurious to women. He says women should not wear corsets. He said he would discard this class of advertisements for the further reason that a picture of a woman fitting on a corset is suggestive and coarse. Liquor advertisements are thrown into the waste basket on the ground that the whiskey habit is not a disease and therefore does not demand medical treatment. A score of magazine advertisements were today thrown into the waste basket because the magazines contained whiskey and corset advertisements.

The advertising agent made life a burden to Mr. Sheldon until he grabbed his hat and left home, telling his family that he would get a quiet room down town, where peace and solitude would be possible.

During the week, the Topeka State Journal, a rival paper, will print "lay sermons" by E. W. Howard, of the Atchison Globe, the author of the "Story of a Country Town." It is expected that these lay sermons will be republished in the utterances of the Rev. Mr. Sheldon and that a lively controversy may ensue.

Kansas City retail houses cannot get into the advertising columns of the Capital. Mr. Sheldon holds that a home paper should protect home merchants. Speaking of another fad in advertising today he said: "No bargain day sales where 50 cent goods are marked down to 49 cents for one day only will find space in the Capital during this management. Twenty dollar suits going for $12.98 ads will be conspicuous by their absence. These are falsehoods on their face, and I will not tolerate them."

The woman's page of the Capital in the Sunday edition will contain no cuts of fashionable society women in delectable costumes, nor will there be any illustrations of "the latest in hosiery or garters."

There has been an unprecedented demand for copies of the paper and it is probable that the subscription list will exceed 300,000. The great majority of orders range from 20 to 50 copies, and come from Christian Endeavor Societies all over the country.

How to handle this tremendous edition in a town the size of Topeka has been fully solved by deciding to send duplicate sets of matrices to papers in other cities, and these will print the hundreds of thousands of papers demanded.

Mr. Sheldon has given out a statement declaring that he will not grant any interviews during his management of the paper afterward. He needs all his time and energy for the work, and says the paper can speak for itself.

Dr. Sheldon has not taken possession of the big room set aside for his editorial work. He will be installed Monday morning and every member of the staff will meet him there. Then he will announce his plans and issue instructions to the heads of all departments. He proposes now to read in advance every word that appears in the paper.

Topeka is just now waging a periodical war against the evil resorts of the town. It is supposed that Dr. Sheldon will not only prosecute the fight on the resorts but make life a burden for the police and the city officials who connive at or countenance iniquity.

The idea of running a newspaper as Jesus Christ would run it was suggested in Mr. Sheldon's book, "In His Steps," and was again broached last July at Detroit in the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor convention. It took form in a query which startled one of the largest assemblies of Christian workers ever gathered.

Dr. Sheldon asked this question: "In this day, when philanthropy munificently endows our institutions of learning, is there here a man who recognizes the potency of the public press to make or mar our civilization, will contribute $1,000,000 to establish a daily Christian newspaper?" The significance of this suggestion received instant and widespread recognition. It went at once from the great Christian Endeavor convention to the world and the enterprise which begins here next week is expected to prove the feasibility of Dr. Sheldon's plan.

Three Friendly Indians.

Amid the noisy crashing of fictional opinion on the Porto Rican tariff and things like that, it is pleasing to know that, insulated spots, harmony dwells in chunks, and the white winged dove is molting a feather. Senator Hanna, Senator Foraker and General Grosvenor ate lunch in the Senate restaurant together the other day, laughing and chatting the while. "A year ago that wouldn't have been possible, unless the waiter had previously locked up all the cutlery," observed General Grosvenor after the love feast was over. All of which goes to show that Grosvenor is a friendly Indian. And so is Foraker. And likewise Hanna. —Commercial Tribune.

Killed By a Horse.

St. Marys, W. Va., March 12.—Sunday afternoon Al Gould, a teamster in the employ of A. C. Ruby, was killed by a vicious horse, dying two hours later. He was struck directly over the heart. The force of the kick broke two ribs. His remains were turned over to Undertaker Ogden. He is unknown here, and no relatives can be found. He came from Mannington to Marietta and from there about six months ago. He is about 50 years of age and at one time worked at McDonald, Pa.

New Warden Selected.

Columbus, O., March 10.—Governor Bushnell's Warden, Elijah Coffin, will serve out his term.

Today the penitentiary managers elected as Warden W. N. Darby, of St. Clairsville, to assume office May 1, at the expiration of Warden Coffin's term. Harry Griffiths, the Morrow county member of the board, made a hard fight for ex-Congressman Francis B. DeWitt, of Paulding county, and it is reported that, failing in this, he will be able to compass the retention as Deputy Warden of Bradley Dawson.

State Chairman Dick is said to have backed the defeated DeWitt, both because he tried manfully though unsuccessfully to get the Fifth District convention to endorse General Dick for Ohio member of the National Committee, and because he thought DeWitt's appointment would strengthen the party in the normally Democratic Fifth District. Mr. Darby's appointment is well received, and, in a measure, is a promotion, as he served a term as Marshal of St. Clairsville, four years as Deputy Sheriff of Belmont county and two terms as Sheriff.

He was backed by the Republican organization of his county for member of the Board and then for Warden. The Belmont Republicans had a candidate for Insurance Commissioner were withdrawn in order to center strength upon Darby. Belmont county sent a Nash delegation to the last State Convention, and worked hard during the campaign, and these things were not unconsidered in making the selection.

"The Heart of Chicago."

"The Heart of Chicago," Lincoln J. Carter's spectacular comedy drama, will be produced for the first time in this city at the Auditorium tonight. It is said to contain a story of extraordinary power, well told and relieved by many bright moments of clever comedy. The interpreting company includes some very clever people who ought to do full justice to the thrilling story. All the scenes and incidents are located in the great western metropolis, and the story runs through the space of time between the great fire and the World's Fair. We are promised an abundance of handsome scenery, wonderful mechanical effects and mysterious electrical devices. Chief among these many scenic features are the vivid reproduction of a section of the great fire and the wonderful advancing locomotive, which is seen to approach rapidly from apparently miles away and bring up at the footlights full-sized and perfect. This effect is covered by twenty-five patents.

Hoyt's "A Black Sheep."

Hoyt's "A Black Sheep" comes to the Auditorium on Thursday, March 15. The theatre goes will be accorded a treat in the way of heavy and yet wholesome entertainment such as is not too often set before them. Charles Hoyt is the carter of the stage, and he handles his crayons with the skill of the real artist. In "A Black Sheep" he has drawn broad and clear, with a method true to his subject, life in frontier Arizona. His types are quickly recognized and appreciated. Everyone knows the editor of the Arizona Tombstone Inscription and is ready to laugh at his whimsicalities, so funnily set forth by the playwright, and enacted by the creator of the part, William Devere, known in impolite society as "Big Bill" Devere. The other characters introduced by Mr. Hoyt are many and are almost equally conducive of humor, and the parts are said to be taken in an exceptionally capable manner by the company of 30 artists, the strongest and most talented Messrs. Hoyt and McKee has ever put together. The sale of seats now in progress indicates a very promising engagement.

Situate in the Township of Aurelius, Washington county, Ohio, to-wit: The leasehold estate for oil and gas purposes created by and existing under a lease given by Levi Hall as lessor to said Levi Hall and J. F. Caldwell, as lessees, dated March 1, 1897, recorded in Volume 79, of Record of Leases of said Washington county, at page 125, which leasehold estate is in lands owned by plaintiff and situated in said Aurelius Township, which lands are bounded on the north by lands of William R. Wickens, on the east by lands of William R. Wickens and Elizabeth Driscoll, on the south by lands of Elizabeth Driscoll, J. W. Schneider, James Dixon and Joseph Dixon, and on the west by lands of Arch Hall and A. R. Vaughn, containing about One Hundred and Sixty-eight acres, excepting eighty-five acres off the west side thereof, as to which said James F. Caldwell assigned to said Levi Hall, by instrument recorded in Volume 82, of Records of Leases of said county, at page 531, all his estate and interest under said lease, reserving, however, a right of way over the same appurtenant to his leasehold estate in the remainder of said One Hundred and sixty-eight acre tract; said leasehold estate is subject to the royalties, estate and other rights of said plaintiff, reserved to him in said lease as lessor and is for the term of five years from March 1st, 1897, and so long as oil or gas can be produced in paying quantities; also eight oil wells appurtenant to said lease and situated in that part of said One Hundred and sixty-eight acre tract not included in said eighty-five acres off the west side thereof, together with the rigs, casing, tubing, tanks, pumping outfits, lines of pipe, boilers, engines and other property appurtenant to said wells, the leasehold estate for oil and gas purposes created by and existing under a lease given by one Elizabeth Driscoll and George B. Driscoll, her husband, as lessors to Samuel Bowman and John M. Landon & Co., as lessees, dated September 27th, 1889, recorded in Volume 69, of Records of Leases of said Washington county, at page 315, which leasehold estate is in land owned by said Elizabeth Driscoll and situated in Aurelius Township, which lands are bounded on the east by lands of Willie Ripley, on the south by lands of George Hess, on the west by lands of Levi Hall, and on the north by lands of Elizabeth Driscoll, containing twenty-five acres, more or less; said leasehold estate is subject to the royalties, estate and other rights of said Elizabeth Driscoll, reserved to her in said lease as lessor, and is for the term of five years from September 27th, 1889, and as long as oil shall continue to be found on said premises in paying quantities; also four oil wells appurtenant to said leasehold estate, drilled under said lease, and on the premises therein leased, together with the rigs, casing, tubing, tanks, pumping outfit, lines of pipe, boilers, engines and other property appurtenant to said wells. Also two oil wells, and the leasehold estate to which said oil wells are appurtenant, commonly called the line wells between the Hall and Wickens farms, known as Nos. 1 and 2, drilled near the line between the 168 acre tract hereinbefore mentioned and the farm of William R. Wickens, adjoining said 168 acre tract on the east; which leasehold estate is subject to a royalty due said Levi Hall and William R. Wickens of one-eighth (one-sixteenth to each of them) of all oil produced from said two wells delivered to them free of expenses in pipe lines; together with the rigs, casing, tubing, tanks, pumping outfits, lines of pipe, boilers, engines and other property appurtenant to said wells.

Said premises has been appraised at Five Thousand Five Hundred dollars, and cannot sell for less than two-thirds of said appraisement.
